

Janet Wilkinson

I came to know the Lord as my personal Savior at about nine years of age while attending a Vacation Bible School. All through my growing-up years I knew the Lord was with me. His love for me and His guidance were real. I praise Him for teachers who faithfully taught me the Word of God and led me to Christ. In 1961, I yielded my life to the Lord at a Missionary conference at my church. In 1962, I enrolled at Brookes Bible Institute for systematic Bible Study. In 1963, I began serving the Lord at Open Door Missionary Fellowship while attending school. Upon graduation from Brookes, I stayed at Open Door until 1970. Since then, for seventeen years, I worked in the secular field until September 1984 when I felt the Lord was leading me back into a full-time ministry. Reaching children for Christ and seeing their lives changed as they trust in Him is what God has called me to do. I have peace and joy as I serve Him here.

Since I worked with the Rehbeins at Open Door, and knew of the quality of their work, I knew there would be freedom to serve the Lord as He leads. We have been blessed as we serve the Lord together.

This area is greatly in need of the saving power of Christ. There is much crime. There are, also, many children in the area who have been reached with the gospel. But there are many more that need to be reached. We need your prayers.
